| Comments/Observations/Problems: During the biennial periods of '91-'93, '93-'95, and '95-'97, Pennsylvania did not have an approved Wellhead Protection Program. The numbers for the "ground water dependent PWS systems" were not from the biennial report. The numbers came from a "working points" memo to the Source Water Citizen Advisory Committee members dated 9/98. |                               |       |               |                               |       |               |                               |       |               |
